Five College Learning in Retirement
General membership meeting
December 17, 1991, Red Barn, Hampshire College

At this general membership meeting ** _____ guests and _____ members were present. The membership committee served as hosts, greeting new persons and introducing them to each other and members.

The President, Barbara Southworth, listed some modifications being made in the format of the monthly luncheons at the Lord Jeff..there will be several small tables to facilitate conversation, instead of a banquet table; there will be a bar open for individual patronage; there will be moderately priced menus available.

Sign up sheets were available for the January Special Events, and general information about these was given: The Mark Twain seminar, moderated by a member of the Harvard Institute for Learning in Retirement as the first in what may be a number of inter-institute exchanges, will be offered January 29-30 at Willits-Hallowell center of the Mount Holyoke College campus. Betty Johnson will offer two slides/lecture events on January 13 and January 20 concerned with English churches and narrow boating in England. Marjorie Kaufman circulated sign-up sheets for a library orientation opportunity at Mount Holyoke College on January 14, 15, 16.

Treasurer's report was not presented but is available in written form on request. Executive officer's report was inadvertently omitted.

Seminar selection sheets and December newsletters were distributed. Moderators for spring term were introduced and opportunity provided for members to meet with their prospective seminar moderators.

The President made a statement of LIR's deep appreciation of Marjorie Kaufman's service to LIR as Prof. Kaufman ends her term as chair of the curriculum committee; and these remarks were immortalized on a scroll prepared for Prof. Kaufman.

Following the brief business meeting, LIRs and their guests enjoyed a bounteous potluck luncheon.
